

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS AND RESPONSE IN OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH (EPROH)

1st EPROH congress on Emergencies @ the workplace

Thursday 2 and Friday 3 April 2020
Le Belfroi (Montrouge - Paris Area - France)

FIRST PRELIMINARY PROGRAM

EPROH, Emergency Preparedness and Response in Occupational Health*, is proud to announce the 1st congress on emergencies @ the workplace to be held in the Paris area at "Le Belfroi de Montrouge", a fabulous Art Déco 1930 congress facility.

A two days congress including plenary sessions shared with JAMU congress, special EPROH sessions, oral communications, posters display and a social program.

Plenary joint EPROH – JAMU sessions

Life-threatening emergencies:

Perform the right and accurate procedures using updated protocols at the workplace.
Guidelines and updates for medics and paramedics

Traumatology at the work place:

On site procedures.
Who, when and where to transfer: primary care center or hospital?

Emergencies at the work place: Update session

EMS is one hour away: What shall I do?
Assessment, transmission, transfer and referral: keeping patient's medical data on the track
Risk of suicide attempt at work

From risk assessment to cardiac arrest

Emergencies and sleep disorders among health practitioners
Cardiac arrest: CPR update in the frame of next released guidelines

Special EPROH sessions

From daily operations to disasters: Solutions for Remote Locations:

Alternatives and options
Improve and enlarge the training of citizens and rescuers

Free papers (session 1 and 2)

Oral Communications

Poster display

Social program Thursday 2 April

Visit of EMS call center and ambulances (SAMU 92 Garches) ¹

Meet together party ²

¹ Advanced registration required (limited spot). No additional fee.

² Additional fees applies.

Who should attend?

Occupational health practitioners, Health safety environment officers, Disasters planning managers, Emergency practitioners and all those involved in emergency preparedness and rescue in the occupational setting.

Emergencies @ the workplace will be the opportunity to learn about the updates, the new available procedures and guidelines, bring and share experience with other practitioners in that field, 2 sessions will be dedicated to oral presentations selected after a call for abstract.

ICOH might support a grant for a valuable presentation for developing countries. Further details will be given in the website later on.

Timeline:

- 13 June 2019: First announcement and preliminary program.
- 8 July 2019: Call for abstracts open
- 2 September 2019: Second announcement and registration open
- 15 October 2019: Deadline for abstract reception
- 15 November 2019: Notification of acceptance to abstracts' authors
- 29 November 2019: deadline for early bird reduced registration fee

Registration Fees:

Before 29 November 2019 (early bird)	600 € (ICOH ^{})	700 € (Non ICOH ^{*})
After 29 November 2019 (regular)	700 € (ICOH ^{})	800 € (Non ICOH ^{*})

Scientific committee

Alexis Descatha (France), Susanne Schunder-Tatzber (Austria), Grace Sembajwe (USA), Thomas Loeb (France), and members of EPROH scientific committee.

Organization committee

Michel Baer, Anna Ozguler, Guillaume Douge, Marc Fadel (France).

Notes

* EPROH is the scientific committee of ICOH dedicated to Emergency preparedness and response in Occupational Health.

 JAMU will bring together more than 500 occupational health practitioners from France for the 32nd edition, featuring plenary sessions, parallel sessions, 12 different workshops and the opportunity to exchange with colleagues.

 Members of ICOH in good standing * Members of ICOH not in good standing/ or not member